VICTIM OF FOUL PLAY.

Skeleton of Frank Blank Clears Up Mysterious Disappearance.

Special Correspondence.

Basin, Wyo., April 2.—The mystery of the disappearance of Frank Blank of Red Lodge, Mont., at the Hunter ranch last September, has been dispelled by the discovery of Blank's skeleton in a thick close to the camp he occupied at the time of his disappearance. The skeleton, picked clean by coyotes, was discovered by an employee at the Hunter ranch, identification being possible through fragments of clothing and jewelry. The finding of the skeleton proves conclusively that Blank was a victim of foul play, and the sheriff at Red Lodge is expected to make arrests in connection with the case.

Blank went to the Hunter ranch for an outing last September, camping out in a lonely spot. Two persons from Red Lodge accompanied him to the camp and left the next day. When nothing was seen of Blank for a week an investigation was begun, but no trace of him was ever found until this week. The sheriff at Red Lodge arrested the two persons who accompanied Blank to the camp, but later released them because there was not evidence of foul play in the case.
